
MY THANKS TO:

Word Processing: Wendy Deitler whom I named my NPM (Nocturnal Puzzle Master) for deciphering one hundred and twenty five pages of scanned hand written definitions which were nearly impossible to read. www.deitler.com

Game App Development: Team at AppPartner Development.com for construction of the app itself and getting the “look” and functionality I was envisioning. www.apppartner.com

Website Development: www.ultimatedesign4u.com Little did I know how much was involved!

Robert (Bob) Thorssen: (my brother) For suggesting a game app (after several years of my futile efforts to get a publisher or game company to produce a “box of cards” game) and then guided me through the maze of steps in this whole process.

My Focus Groups: To my dear friend Bryanne Wood and “the Book Club” who spent a two day weekend retreat playing the “box of cards” game and then sent pages of comments and suggestions. (AND came up with the name OPTIONARY!!) Also to our friends Audrey Galloway and Lyn Ward for the Focus Group they hosted, composed of the clever and keen Armitage clan and Christi Berlin. More good advice!!

And finally to my partner Hart Abercrombie for his ongoing patience in listening to years of “game talk”; to my mom Gwen Thorssen for passing her love of language on to me; and to my son Sean Saville for his unwavering belief that this was a great game idea.
